Welcome!

Many horse owners seek effective, holistic ways to care for their beloved horses. Requests for Equine Natural Movement sessions have steadily increased since Joseph Freeman developed the work in 1994. The Equine Natural Movement School program offers six courses. Three basic courses cover 330 hours of work. Upon completion of the basic program, graduates are certified as Equine Natural Movement practitioners (also known as Equine Structural Integration practitioners). We offer certification as an Advanced Practitioner with 500 hours. Advanced course graduates who show particular promise may apply to our Teacher Training.

Washington state requires bodywork practitioners to have a state-issued license to practice, as do about half the U.S. states; the remaining states have no requirements, though we expect eventually all states will have them. We offer an exam prep class to ready our students for the WA Equine Massage License exam. Out-of-state students may fulfill their state's program with our course or, as some have done, acquire the Washington state license before their home state requires one.

Our classes are taught on a biodynamic farm in southwest Washington. We provide wonderful horses who are eager to make your acquaintance. In Module One you'll interact with a variety of horses as you learn to use all your senses to understand movement and tissue differences, and practice effective communication, safety and the uses of intention. In Module Two, each student works with one individual horse assigned to be your partner for the course. In Module Three, you'll partner up with another new horse and examine more complex situations. Your work with a specific horse during Modules Two and Three gives you immediate feedback about the effectiveness of your work. Each of the three courses are a week long with plenty of hands-on horse work and classroom time.

In between courses during the Home Study phase, you'll complete homework, online courses, and practice giving sessions to horses at home. Once you complete your assignments, you'll be ready to progress to the next module.

Our business development module is taught online. This course teaches you how to develop your practice in your home area with plenty of support from our staff.

Sound interesting?

A career as an Equine Natural Movement practitioner could be a good career choice if you:

- * Love horses and work well with them
- * Enjoy figuring out how to help horses improve movement and function more optimally
- * Are in reasonably good physical shape
- * Want to earn a living spending time with and helping horses

WHY STUDENTS CHOOSE OUR TRAINING

Since 1998 we have trained folks in Equine Structural Integration bodywork, a progressive series that significantly changes how horses feel and move their bodies so they are the best they are capable of being. Horses improve a lot from receiving the series, quite reliably. You know it and they know it and a lovely, caring bond develops.

Even though that's what happens, we rarely write about that last part because frankly the emotional progression of a series and how it affects both horses AND practitioner is harder to describe than explaining how bodywork works. Yet we know from our students' and graduates' comments that this work makes them truly excited about getting up in the morning. Here's what our students tell us is really important:

This work helps horses a lot — at the same time it also makes practitioners into better people.

It makes us all more of who we're meant to be: Good people doing heart-centered work that truly helps horses. Additional benefits — we get to spend time around horses; around people who love being with horses; and graduates can earn a pretty decent income doing what some graduates tell us is their real life's work.

we teach core skills that can significantly change a horse's structure, resolve issues of imbalance and improve movement and attitude. That's what we normally speak about. The other side is the feeling we get inside from doing it.

- When the mare you've done two sessions with softly nickers when she sees you walking toward her stall.
- When the horse's owner tells you how they can easily do things that used to be difficult.
- When you and the gelding you're working with suddenly connect, really tune in to each other, and the two of you magically become one being working toward the same goal.

This is what we look for in our students, people who want to work in a horse career that calls upon you to use your brain and your body with your heart and soul.

We're not looking to convince anyone to become a student. That wouldn't help our school's mission one bit. Surprisingly, we're not even looking for hundreds of students. Fact is, we haven't yet figured out how to train more than a half dozen students at a time. We keep classes small so we can work with each student individually — just as we do with the horses — to bring out their unique strengths and best self.

Our school costs a good amount of money. We know that and we don't mind sharing how we calculated the tuition. We base the cost on what we need to pay ourselves to work with our students this way. We also look at how our graduates do once they're out in the field to be sure their investment is prudent and profitable. That's important to us. Our students continue to tell us they get a good return for their investment, that the training works. They're pleased and productive, and we're happy about that.

If what we've said speaks to you, you are probably that one-in-a-hundred person that we're looking for and we hope you'll call or email us. We really enjoy speaking with prospective students because our students tend to be very interesting people. Look at the photos on our practitioners page. If you can see yourself as part of that group, we'd love to help make that happen.

THE EQUINE NATURAL MOVEMENT SCHOOL TEACHER TRAINING

This class is enrolled by invitation, though we encourage you to make your intention to become a Teacher known to us so we can help you in that direction. It is open to Advanced Course graduates who have considerable experience as an Equine Natural Movement practitioner and who show demonstrable promise as teachers.

Teacher Training candidates are expected to have a well grounded base of knowledge in the work prior to taking this course.

The training focuses on methods that assist students in learning using all their senses and skills. During their training, teacher candidates learn to identify and bring out each student's hidden talents and highest potential and create ways that bring them up to speed in areas they aren't as strong in.

Teacher candidates learn to provide optimal educational situations that encourage exploration and skill development.

Upon successful completion of the class, teacher candidates may be asked to serve as adjunct faculty and mentor students who may train with them directly. Adjunct faculty will be paid for their teaching time by the student they mentor, and we will accept their mentor trainees into successive modules of the regular training.

More information on this course will be discussed during the Advanced Training. Graduate students may request the Teacher Training Addendum that lists the program objectives, sequence of work, hours, methods of instruction, and cost.

Prerequisites are:      Advanced certification, a successful practice for a number of years, and candidate recommendation from a faculty member.

The Equine Natural Movement School FACULTY

JOSEPH FREEMAN is a creative, gifted practitioner who applied his work with humans to horses and came up with a sequence of sessions that provides a return to balance and flexibility. Joseph certified in Structural Integration in 1994 and initially worked in a clinical setting with human clients. As a favor to friends he worked on their horses. The remarkable results he got convinced him his true calling is horses. In 1995 he stepped away from his human practice and began setting up the foundation work of the Equine Natural Movement series. In 1999, as his reputation grew, people asked if he'd mentor them so they could learn the work, too. By 2002 he had a trail of students each time he went to a barn, and that was when the school got its start. Joseph has skilled hands, a calm and patient manner and a deep love of animals. Most importantly, horses enjoy working with him.

JACQUELINE FREEMAN is the Training Director of the school so her fingers are in each part of the program. For a dozen years she was on faculty for Structural Integration (Hellerwork) and for seven years she owned a holistic health center, so when it was time to start the school, she had a strong background in how to do that. She works on curriculum development, guides the independent study portion of the course, and orchestrates the continuing development of each student to graduation and into practice. She sees the strengths of each student and works to bring out the best in them so they feel the joy of fulfilling their highest potential with this work. She is effervescent, optimistic, thoroughly practical and deeply committed to honesty, ethics and passion.

SUSAN CHERNAK McELROY's books and tapes are published worldwide. Her pioneering work, "Animals as Teachers and Healers," is a classic in the genre of the Human-Animal bond and she followed that with six more books. Susan teaches on our business course faculty and helps our students learn how to best present themselves in print and media. Her work explores the physical and spiritual importance of our relationship with animals and nature. She's done rehabilitation work with all kinds of animals, from possums to ducks, mini-donkeys to chimpanzees. Her interactions with animals are a joy to witness.

WHEN AM I REGISTERED FOR THE COURSE?

Students are registered once Module One tuition is received and the application is accepted. We will notify you by email that you are registered. Because our classes are full at six students, we strongly encourage prospective students to register as soon as possible to assure themselves a place in the class.

Tuition is due 30 days before the course begins. In the past we've had students send their application late and had to tell them the course was full and they'd have to wait until the next one. Everyone was disappointed. Early payments let everyone plan better. That makes our job much easier and we're grateful for that. We can take applications less than 30 days before class if we've got room, just ask.

DO I HAVE TO COMMIT TO THE ENTIRE TRAINING?

Most students take the entire training but we prefer you register one class at a time. If what you learn in Module One sings to you, we're thrilled. After taking Module One, you may register for Module Two.

HOME STUDY

To complete their work at home, each student:

- 1) Practices giving horses sessions. Students find horses to practice on in their own area. A Module One student works with 7-8 horses after Module One, five horses after Module Two (these can be the same horses as after M1), and five new horses after Module Three.
- 2) Writes a 3 page college-level paper on a given topic.
- 3) Receives a Structural Integration series (10 sessions) from a local practitioner who works with the human body. This gives the student a direct experience of the work they are doing on horses,
- 4) Writes intake and progress notes for all sessions.
- 5) Reads books on the reading list and writes a brief report on each one.

Students are ready to graduate when they have

1. Satisfactorily completed each module,
2. Completed and submitted all their homework, and
3. Received and written a summary of their SI series.

CERTIFICATION and LICENSING TIERS

Basic Certification -- Upon satisfactory completion of the three basic courses and all homework, the school approves the student as graduated. At this point graduates may call themselves Equine Natural Movement practitioners. This title cannot be used until the training is completed.

State Licensure -- Some states, like Washington, require equine bodywork practitioners be licensed. We have a module (in addition to the basic training) that prepares students for the Washington exam. Other states may have similar requirements and out-of-state students may also take this module.

Advanced Practitioner -- After 1-2 years in practice, graduates may apply for the Advanced Training module. Upon satisfactory completion of this course and homework, graduates may call themselves "Certified Advanced Equine Natural Movement Practitioners."

BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

We recommend our business course for all students, especially those who do not currently own a successful business in the equine field. This course is required for Advanced Certification. Owning a successful equine practice or having a business background may allow an exemption. Ask us.

CLASS SIZE

We intentionally keep our classes small, up to six students. This enables us to give each student plenty of individual attention to enable them reach their highest skill level. That makes everyone, including the horses, happy.

INSURANCE

Students agree to purchase and maintain student insurance before beginning the course. Our school is a member of Associated Bodywork and Massage Professionals. ABMP has a very good student insurance program for $45/year. Upon graduation the cost is $199 per year for practitioners. An application is in your student info packet. or you can sign up directly at www.ABMP.com/students . Click on "Student Membership" and tell them you will be studying with us. Our School ID# is 931-674.

ADVANCED CERTIFICATION & TEACHER TRAINING

Students may apply for the Advanced Course after a year or more of working in the field. Graduates of the Advanced Course may inquire about the Teacher Training. These practitioners may be invited to join our adjunct faculty and be paid to mentor students in their area.

HOW LONG DOES THE TRAINING TAKE?

Most students take the first three classes over about a year. Everyone's circumstances are different and it's fine with us for you to spread the modules over as long as you need. If there is a break of more than two years between classes, we suggest you audit the last module you attended or tutor with adjunct faculty before returning to class.

WHERE TO STAY -- Sleeping and Eating

The school does not provide housing. Good options: A neighbor couple offers dorm-style home-stays ten minutes from our farm (breakfast, dinner, airport pickup / drop-off $375 for week). Pay them directly. Please arrange home-stays early as they have limited beds available. If you prefer more privacy, try www.AirBnB.com in Battle Ground and Brush Prairie, Lunches are on your own, a grocery stop after class is easy. Bring your lunch to class, no restaurants nearby. School has fridge, toaster oven.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE of STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION

Students will arrange to receive the Structural Integration series with a SI practitioner (in or near your town) who works with people. This lets you experience what your horse clients will feel as you work with them. If you were learning to be a chiropractor or acupuncturist, you would of course, expect to have a direct knowledge of that work. Getting a series allows the student to embody an appreciation for the effectiveness of the work that cannot be achieved any other way. Students are required to have completed their series by the end of Module 3 and before certification. The sooner you get a series, the quicker you will understand the work!

If you can't find a SI practitioner who lives near your home, ask us for help finding one. Students who have received their SI series prior to taking our class do not need to repeat the SI series, however, they will benefit greatly from receiving an Advanced SI series (4-5 additional sessions) during their training. Find certified SI practitioners at theiasi.net, rolf.com, rolfguild.org, hellerwork.com, somafinder.com or ask the school director for assistance.

Please disclose if any criminal offenses could prevent the student from obtaining licensure.

Progress: Students progress consecutively through each module of training. To progress into the next module, students must satisfactorily complete all class work during the week of class, and during the homework phase, complete the following homework:

- * Practice prescribed number of sessions
- * Write intake, treatment and followup notes for each session

Grading: Students are graded by observed performance and pass / fail tests. Students are considered as “passing” when the instructor deems the work satisfactory. If the school or instructor has concerns that the quality of the student’s work is not sufficient or safe, that student will not be passed until the work is completed and brought to competency. Students will not be certified if they do not successfully demonstrate the skills and ability to practice the Equine Natural Movement Series. Students who take more than a year between modules may have to re-test for competency (auditing available) before continuing further. A student may be asked to do additional work to bring their skills to standards. Each module’s work must be completed before progress to the next module.

Attendance & Makeup sessions: All absences must be made up. If a student cannot complete a module, that student may continue in the next same module (if there is room). A reduced fee will be charged for days audited this way. If the student receives private tutoring as part of a makeup class, the school will charge an additional fee to cover the instructor’s time.

Tardiness: The nature of the work involves scheduling horses and the support people, so classes need to start on time. If a student is tardy, the entire class must wait which impedes the progress of the class. Please arrange your schedule so this is not an issue.

Transcripts: Students may request a transcript by contacting the school director by email. Student records will be kept on file for 50 years or until the school closes.

Withdrawal: A student must submit a written request to the registrar. This document must contain the student’s name, address and date. All financial obligations on the part of the school and the student will be calculated using the last recorded date of attendance.

SCHOOL ENVIRONMENT

We strive to create a positive learning environment for all our students. To achieve that, we ask that students embody principles of kindness, joy, curiosity, presence, generosity, love, and mutual support. We present our school as a place of safety and compassion. In all matters, we encourage our students and staff to present their highest selves.

Students agree to abide by the Code of Conduct and all rules and regulations of the school and understand that failure to act in accordance with the rules may result in dismissal from the school. Students agree to refrain from using drugs or alcohol during class including evenings and the day before class days. Students must perform with the utmost regard for safety. Students asked to leave the program will not be allowed back.

Code of Conduct: We list here conduct that is unacceptable and ask your help in creating an environment free of these conditions:

All forms of bias including race, religion, ethnicity, gender, disability, national origin, veteran status, and creed; Sexual harassment in any form; Dishonesty, cheating, plagiarism, forgery, and alteration or intent to defraud; Intentional disruption or obstruction of any school activities; Theft or damage to the school or student property; Criminal behavior; Disregard for safety of students and horses; Misuse of alcohol or drugs; and gossip.

Diversity: The school does not discriminate against students or potential students on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, veteran or military status, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained guide dog or service animal by a person with a disability. If a student has a disability that allows them to safely work around horses, that student can discuss with the registrar if this training can accommodate the student well. Please understand that the rigors of this program require students have reasonable strength and be in good health.

Conditions for Dismissal

Students may be dismissed from the school for the following reasons:

1. Not adhering to the school's rules, regulations, policies, and code of conduct
2. Missing instruction time or not completing homework in a timely manner
3. Not capable of demonstrating and maintaining satisfactory skill proficiency
4. Not meeting financial responsibilities to the school

The school director will notify the student in writing should it become necessary to dismiss the student. The dismissal letter will contain the date and the reason for dismissal. Prepaid tuition will be refunded according to the school's refund policy. Students dismissed from the school will not be allowed back into class.

Financing Your Education

The school does not have a financial aid program nor do we offer scholarships. Most students pay their tuition in full before the start of each class.

However, we do have an interest-free payment plan for students in need. Typically we offer two choices: $1000 or $600 as the first payment; then monthly payments that spread the balance over two or three months. If a student successfully handles payment for Module One, we may offer to continue the plan for successive modules. We sometimes make other arrangements. Please discuss this with the Training Director. In order to graduate, all fees must be paid in full.

We discourage students using credit cards as we don't want our students to get in over their heads financially. We prefer to work out a good interest-free payment plan that does not increase your stress level. The school will be here for a long time, so if you need longer to save up, we encourage that rather than going into debt. If you need to use a credit card to pay, please have an earnest discussion with the Training Director (Jacqueline) and together we will assess your financial readiness for this training first.

Secure bank transfers are also available. Banks normally charge $10-20 for that. If you use a credit card, the 3% fee (about $50/module) will be added to your payment. Out-of-country funds should be paid in US Dollars. Ask your bank for the exchange rate.

More details on costs are on the next page.

Placement Assistance & Post-Graduation Support

Once graduated, each person is invited to have a presence on the school's "Find a Practitioner" webpage. We maintain this list of practitioners to help clients find nearby practitioners. Sometimes a potential client calls the school directly. When this happens, we share graduates' contact info and encourage the client to contact local graduates and arrange sessions directly.

While the school does not have a formal placement program, sometimes a graduate with a wait list asks if we know of a practitioner who could come to their area and help for a short or extended period. When we hear of this, we email to graduates from that part of the country, or those who are willing to travel, and tell them of the opportunity.

Graduates may consult with staff any time after graduation. All that is needed is to email or call and arrange a time to talk.

The school will provide guidance and feedback on working with the horses to achieve satisfactory results. Students also agree to receive a Structural Integration series by the end of Module 3 and hand in a paper on their experience so they have a personal understanding of what Structural Integration work feels like and aims to accomplish. Certification is the result of satisfactory demonstration and practice of Equine Natural Movement Series skills.

TRAINING COST & TIME COMMITMENT

TIME COMMITMENT

Our program takes about a year to complete. Students attend classes here in Washington for one week for each module, then they go home and do their homework between modules. Typically it takes students 3-4 months to complete their homework and move into the next module.

COST BREAKDOWN

Tuition is $1800 per module. A student pays one module at a time. We want to be sure that each student is a good fit for the program before the student pays for the next module.

Total for 3 modules = $5400 + Business class $1200 = $6600 + Wa Exam Prep $600 = $7200

ADDITIONAL COSTS

Textbooks $220 (new). Please look at our school bookshelf when here to decide which books to purchase. Students may borrow from our school library during class time, buy books second-hand, and request books through their library. Please do not purchase every book on the reading list until you see how useful the book will be to you in the long run. While we list $220, many students find books second-hand for under $100.

INSURANCE

Each student must carry their own health insurance.

Students also must have student insurance before beginning class.

This policy protects the animals you work on. We recommend ABMP's student policy ($45/yr). Contact Associated Bodywork & Massage Professionals (800) 458-2267. Our School ID is 931674

EXAM FEE for WA state licensure, $250. Other states vary, licensure is not required in all states.

STRUCTURAL INTEGRATION SERIES

Receiving a SI series is required to graduate from our school. Students find a local practitioner (for humans) from whom they can receive the SI series. A standard 10 session series may range in cost from $60-150 per session. The price is determined by the region, not by the skill of the practitioner. Some students have paid less by getting their series at a SI school or bartering. For most students, this will be an out-of-pocket expense. For some students, health insurance may cover rehabilitative sessions with an SI practitioner who is also a PT, OT, or LMT.

Students coming from afar may have costs that include:

Travel to and from school

Lodging and meals -- Motel, AirBnB, or ask about a local home-stay ($375/wk) that includes airport pickup & drop off, breakfast & dinner, dorm style lodging.

Note: You are not required to send this page (page 25) back to us.

YOUR TUITION PAYMENTS 2018

We encourage students to pay as soon as they know which course they want to take. Please don't wait until the last minute. We close our classes once we have six students. You are registered once we receive your application and payment and mail you back a signed contract.

HOW TO FILE A COMPLAINT or APPEAL

Washington law requires private vocational schools to inform students how to file a complaint. By signing this form you acknowledge this process has been explained to you. Below are the next steps the school must take in discussing this policy with you, along with information about the complaint process.

Students who have a complaint or who would like to appeal a dismissal must request in writing an appointment for an interview with the school director. The written request should include the following information:

Student's full name and current address.

The school director will notify the student in writing of the appointment date in which the concerns or appeal will be addressed. Every effort will be made to bring an amicable closure to the concern. If necessary, a panel of instructors will hear the concerns and be asked to assist in bringing a resolution to concerns and/or appeals. The student will be notified in writing within five business days of the outcome of the meetings. Should the contract be canceled by either the student or the school, the last date of attendance will be used as the date to calculate any refund in accordance with the school's refund policy.
